

REMARKS

This Amendment After Final is filed in responsive to the Final Office Action dated February 22, 2008. By this Amendment, Applicants respectfully request amendment of Claim 139 to overcome the rejection of the specification and the rejection under 35 USC § 101. Reconsideration and allowance of Claims 139-158 currently in this Application, is again requested.

The Rejection of Claims 139-158 Under 35 USC § 101

By this Amendment, independent Claim 139 has again been amended to reflect that the computerized tool of Claim 139 is for use on a computer apparatus having input interfaces for receiving information, a memory for storing information and a user interface, and which is configured as further recited in Claim 139. It is noted that support for this amendment can be found in originally filed, previously cancelled, Claim 1 of the present Application, or in numerous other of the originally filed Claims 2-70. Numerous structural components of a computer apparatus capable of supporting the functionality of the presently claimed computerized tool, were originally filed and claimed, and it is those previously filed components which are relied upon to support the present amendment to Claim 139. As a result of the present amendment, structural and functional interrelationships are provided between the claimed computerized tool and other elements of a computer apparatus, which permit the computerized tools' functionality to be realized. With this amendment, the remaining dependent claims, Claims 140-158 are believed to depend from and provide the structural and functional interrelationships with, the computerized tool of allowable Claim 139. In view of the Decision on Appeal, together with this Amendment After Final, the requirements of 35 USC §101 are believed to be met, the rejection overcome, and allowance of this application is respectfully requested.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, Claims 139-158 are believed in condition for allowance. Notice to that effect is respectfully requested.

Respectfully Submitted,

Date: April 25, 2008
